

CALL FOR PAPERS

The International Program Committee and the National Organizing Committee will do their best to offer you a Symposium at least as successful as the previous ones, namely TEMPMEKO 2007 in Lake Louise, Canada and TEMPMEKO-ISHM 2010 in Portoroz, Slovenia. Special attention will be given to the peer review process in order to maintain and possibly increase the quality of the accepted contributions and the scientific level of the Symposium. We hope that such goals will contribute to the continued effort toward excellence in TEMPMEKO events.

The TEMPMEKO 2013 website is available at www.tempmeko2013.pt and there you will find useful details concerning the important dates for the conference along with information about the accommodation and transportation arrangements. The website is the principal communication channel for the conference, so be sure to visit it often.